ANOTHER NEUTRAL SHIP DESTROYED

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Norwegian steamship Regin was sunk between 6 and 7 a. m. today in the English Channel, off Dover, by a German submarine.

This is the third Norwegian craft to be blown up since the German "war zone" order went into effect on February 18.

A great hole was torn in the steel hull of the Regin, which was a steamship of 1844 tons, bound from Newcastle-on-Tyne to the French port of Bordeaux.

Her captain ascertained upon an immediate examination that it would be impossible to keep the ship afloat and ordered the crew to the boats. The crew of twenty-two men got away safely, the ship going to the bottom in ten minutes.

The news caused much excitement here, because of the fact that the Norwegian steamer Belridge was recently torpedoed in the same vicinity.

Six vessels in all have been blown up since the "war zone" proclamation went into effect, the first ship attacked being the French steamer Dinorah, which was torpedoed without warning on Friday, February 19, a few miles off Dieppe, by a German submarine, believed to be the U-16. The Dinorah, 2962 tons, did not sink, but was towed into Dieppe harbor with port plates stove in.

The Norwegian tank steamer Belridge, 4,000 tons, was disabled by a mine or torpedo in the English Channel and was barely able to make the port of Walmer on February 19. It was bound from New Orleans to Amsterdam, Bremen, Berlin, via Amsterdam, quoted the Neu Hamburger Zeitung as saying that the Belridge, which the British Admiralty asserts was torpedoed by a German submarine, is in reality the property of a British ship owner who has offices in Christiania, and that the vessels is thus enabled to display either British or Norwegian flag.

The Norwegian steamer Bjørke was torn to pieces by a North Sea mine on February 20. The crew was saved by a trawler.

The British steamer Canham, 3,112 tons, was torpedoed and sunk without warning off Ambush Bay, Wales, by a German submarine on February 20. The crew perished in their haste in leaving the ship.

The American steamer Evelyn, New York to Bremen, was sunk by a mine off Hookland Island, North Sea, February 20. This was the first American vessel sunk in the "broad war," and the responsibility for the same is still a source of grave concern to Washington. One of the crew perished and thirteen are missing.

The Irish coasting steamer Downshire was sunk by the German submarine U-12 in the Irish Sea February 20. The crew was given five minutes' notice.

GERMANS CLAIM INCREASED SPOILS FROM RUSSIAN ROUT

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Every day's official announcement from Berlin increases the magnitude of the German victory over the Russians in the Masurian Lake district of East Prussia. Today's report from the German general staff says that the Germans captured more than 300 cannon.

North of the Vistula, in Poland, the Germans are continuing their advance eastward from Plock toward Wyszogrod, almost directly west of the fortress of Novo Georgievsk. The Russians are apparently attempting an offensive on the Bzeka River, but their attacks have been repulsed, Berlin says.

The German report covering eastern operations says:

"New Russian formations, hastily assembled, tried to advance from Grodno in a northwestern direction, but their attempts failed. The Russian losses were terrible.

"The number of guns captured in the battle of the Masurian Lake district has been increased to more than 200, among which there are eighteen of heavy calibre.

"Engagements continue northwest of Osovietz and north of Lomza and Czarny.

"On the Vistula, east of Plock, the Germans have advanced further in the direction of Wyszogrod. In Poland, south of the Vistula, a Russian division advancing on the German position near the Bzeka has been repulsed."

Petrograd's official report, however, says that the German advance has been checked and that the Russian position is still intact.

WALSH LOOKS INTO SHAME OF WESTON

Governor Walsh today began an investigation to determine the reasons why Miss Weston, who was permitted to ride to school in the largest and most beautiful school children of Weston, was not arrested or punished for her conduct.

Determined to investigate the situation thoroughly, Governor Walsh summoned Superintendent James P. Fee of the Minor Ward Department of the State Board of Charities to explain to him why the school was permitted to ride.

"The matter has been raised in my attention," said the governor, "and has certainly indicated my interest in the situation that seems to spring of consideration against poor children. I am determined to find out just what the situation is and what the school is before me. I will take that action seems to be right."

REMEMBER THE POOR! GIVE A BUNDLE TOMORROW!

"The need was never more urgent than NOW. Thousands of people are without work and lack presentable clothing in which to apply for positions. Children are in the need of warm clothing during the coming months of raw weather. He who gives now gives double. Let the slogan of Bundle Day be DO IT NOW."—From Appeal of Bundle Day Committee, urging everybody in Boston to contribute to aid the destitute tomorrow.

Wednesday AND Thursday Challenge Days at Bacons'

Over 100 Years in Business in Boston

W. & A. BACON CO.
 100 N. BOSTON ST. BOSTON, MASS.

The Only Two-Day Sale of Its Kind in Boston ONCE-A-MONTH

"GREATER THAN LAST MONTH'S CHALLENGE DAYS" is the slogan for Wednesday and Thursday.

When we started these Challenge Days we aimed to make the values so strong that two days would be required to supply the public demand.

Results showed the wisdom of that decision last month. On Challenge Wednesday the sales were nearly double those of any normal Wednesday, while Thursday was nearly as large as Wednesday.

Notwithstanding the fact that Challenge Prices are the lowest of the month in Boston, our Challenge Merchandise will always be above reproach in quality, style and variety.

Challenge Days emphasize the underselling supremacy of this new-old store—oldest in years, newest in merchandise. "Challenge Days" show a determined purpose of W. & A. Bacon Co. to undersell all competition on New Merchandise of reliable quality.

The Challenge Sale is a sort of Reliable, New Merchandise.

We have tried to provide authentic Challenge merchandise for two big days. If, however, our customers are so great that we anticipate, and we run short of Challenge Specials, we have other good merchandise values from our regular stocks to take their place.

Challenge Prices are so low that you can't miss them. In fact, in some cases, you can get them in one day as in similar days.

In days of old
When knights were bold
And wore their coats of mail,
There was no challenge
Half so strong
As BACONS' CHALLENGE SALE.

Here's What Will Happen

Should any other store advertise a price lower than our Challenge Sale Price for Wednesday and Thursday

All day Wednesday and Thursday we will sell reliable merchandise for less than the lowest price elsewhere in Boston. And if any other store advertises a price lower than ours, we will change our price so that it will be lower than the other store. Bacon's is the store of lowest prices on quality merchandise—a fact fully demonstrated.

NOTICE Practically every item in this advertisement was bought especially for "Challenge Days" at very special prices, and we have marked them in many instances at actual bill cost. In no instance have we added more than the actual cost of handling. Not one cent of profit is added to "Challenge Days" specials.

CLERGYMEN URGE SUNDAY TO COME

Sixty-five Boston clergymen and laymen will wait on "Bible Sunday," the evangelist, in Philadelphia today and extend to him an invitation to hold a revival in Boston.

The Boston delegation arrived in Philadelphia early today on special cars and they will remain in that city on Sunday's guests for several days. Under the leadership of the Rev. George L. Clark, pastor of the "Union" (Congregational) Church of Boston, the Boston delegation will be met at the station by a large number of the city's clergymen.

An Appeal for the Co-operation of All Citizens in Making Bundle Day a Practical Success

We, the undersigned, elected as members of an executive committee by the general Bundle Day Committee, appeal to the public as good citizens to have a part in the observance of Wednesday, February 24, as Bundle Day.

Let every citizen who possesses articles of wearing apparel which, for one reason or other, have fallen into disuse, make a suitable bundle of the same, and either by postal or telephone notify the committee at No. 11 Warehouse Street (Telephone OXFORD 6580 and 6582), at the Elliot Square Storage Company, No. 288 Roxbury Street (Telephone 791 or 1010 Roxbury).

For, in the absence of direct notification to the committee, all givers of bundles are asked prominently to display an American flag Wednesday, upon the sight of which the drivers of the collecting teams will call.

This matter is urgent. Don't delay. Please notify Bundle Day headquarters at once, so that plans for collecting your offerings may be made in advance of Bundle Day. The committee will vouch for the wise distribution of all articles donated.

The need was never more urgent than NOW. Thousands of people are without work and lack presentable clothing in which to apply for positions. Children are in the need of warm clothing during the coming months of raw weather. He who gives now gives double. Let the slogan of Bundle Day be "DO IT NOW."

GET READY FOR BUNDLE DAY

may insure health for somebody now improperly clad. Your bundle may prevent sickness and death. This is the great period of the year. Winter met over yet.

Don't be misled by the delightful weather of the present. Cold days are coming and wet days when hundreds of men and women and children will need stronger footwear. Now is the time to give your bundle. It is the most essential element of true charity. Think it over: Are you indifferent to the wants and the sufferings of others? Are you hard-hearted and callous? Do you wish good in your life to do a good turn?

BUNDLE DAY gives you the chance. Don't overlook it. You may give some good gift or give a new suit. You may give a pair of shoes with warm soles and a pair of shoes with warm soles. You may give a pair of shoes with warm soles and a pair of shoes with warm soles.

THIS HARBINGER OF BUNDLE DAY FOR BUNDLE DAY. Let it be a day that will go down in the annals of Boston's philanthropy.

And into those bundles should go all old overcoats and under coats, and suits, trousers, dresses, and hats, everything in the wearing line.

Let us be pointing in. Volunteers are needed to sort and allocate bundles. You can greatly facilitate the task of distribution if you voluntarily take the time to sort and allocate bundles.

WALTHAM VICTIM INSANE FUGITIVE

The Waltham stabbing mystery was solved today when the stranger, found unconscious from stab wounds near the scene of the Clarence F. Glover tragedy of a few years ago, was identified as Peter Loret, an inmate, who escaped Sunday night and has been sought by the hospital authorities.

Loret, who inflicted stab wounds on himself once at Danvers, was found in Crescent street, near Clifford avenue, Waltham. Apparently he was trying to get to the office of Dr. Nicholas Consume, just as Clarence F. Glover had tried, when he was fatally shot.

Loret was taken to Waltham Hospital, where the surgeons found two stab wounds on the left arm and one on his abdomen. There were deep and dangerous. Today Loret was much better.

He refused to explain the wounds. The only clue to his identity was the name "Peter Loret," written inside his cap.

While trying to solve the mystery the Waltham police heard from the Danvers Hospital authorities, with name and description, and the information that Loret was liable to stab himself in this manner.

The man will be returned to Danvers as soon as he can be moved.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—A heavy vote was cast in the city today in the municipal and aldermanic primary held lines of men and women from the polls before the opening. Burglar Shoots and Makes Escape

Hosanna Donald J. McDonald of Engine No. 1 had a day off yesterday, and last evening was preparing to leave home with his wife to visit friends when three burglars tried to break into the house at No. 1718 Columbia road, South Boston, by forcing a rear window with a knife. Armed with a club, McDonald was creeping around the house to give them a surprise when the burglars saw him. Donald shot at the burglars and one of them fled. The burglars fled and a revolver shot at McDonald. The burglar fled away.

CHOICE VACANCIES are now listed in the "Apartment" for new arrivals of the Boston American, but they won't be there after the spring term starts.

BABY BURNED IN EAST CAMBRIDGE

Three-year-old Francis Sullivan was terribly burned when his nightgown ignited from hot ashes in the kitchen of his parents' home, No. 1 Spring place, East Cambridge, today. His mother, Mrs. Michael Sullivan, left the boy with his aged grandfather when she went marketing. After the burning nightgown was extinguished the boy was taken to the Cambridge Hospital, where he was entered on the "dangerous" list.

MOTOR Garford TRUCKS

UTILITY Trucks

To the Buyers and Users of Motor Trucks in the Eastern States:

It gives us great pleasure to announce that we have purchased from the Willys Overland Co. of Toledo, Ohio, their motor truck department in which was manufactured the famous Garford Motor Trucks and the equally well known Willys Utility Trucks.

The entire line will henceforth be manufactured under the Garford name, the Willys Utility 1500-pound truck becoming the Garford Utility, Garford Motor Trucks will be manufactured in one and one-half, two, three, five and six ton sizes, covering every need for commercial motor vehicles, from the smallest practical size to the largest practical motor truck of the Mogul (Garford) pattern.

The new Company has taken over the factory at Lima, Ohio, together with all motor vehicles on hand and the service stations in the Eastern States. The new Company starts not only with ample equipment and the most favorably known truck in America, but with ample cash resources to place the Company in the foremost position in the truck manufacturing world.

Mr. R. E. Taylor, for some time past the General Sales Manager of the R. & L. Co., formerly Eastern Distributors of Garford and Willys Utility Trucks and one of the best known and most successful motor sales managers in America, has been appointed wholesale and retail distributor for the Eastern States—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont. Day and Night Service Stations will be maintained, as heretofore, in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Boston, and present and future Garford Truck owners will receive, invariably, prompt and satisfactory day and night service, and we shall maintain a thoroughly trained staff to properly care for the large Garford business in the Eastern territory.

We shall hope to merit the continued patronage and cordial good will of old Garford customers and the enthusiastic co-operation of the hundreds of new customers who will become satisfied Garford owners, each year, beginning with 1915.

UTILITY Garford TRUCKS

MOTOR Garford TRUCKS

UTILITY Trucks

To the hundreds of old friends and the myriads of new friends just appearing on our business horizon:

It is with the sincerest satisfaction that we are privileged to tell you of the transfer of the manufacture of Garford Trucks and Willys (now Garford) Utilities to a corporation whose entire business and profits are dependent, exclusively, upon the bringing to pass of the Horseless Commercial Age—the age of the uniting steel steed, gliding smoothly and swiftly over every kind and condition of road where ordinary vehicles would find it impossible to go, replacing weary, exhausted, slow horseflesh of yesterday, in pulling the loads of stores, contractors, coal merchants, moving vans, and countless other commercial loads moved for customer-service and profit.

More Garford Trucks roll over New York and New England streets and roads than of any other make, because Garford Trucks ARE reliable, ARE satisfactory and ARE profitable to Garford owners. The number in use in New York is growing more rapidly than that of any other truck, because Garford owners recommend them, unqualifiedly, to friends and business associates as being practical and efficient.

With one of the strongest Motor Organizations in America, under the personal direction of Mr. E. A. Williams, Jr., a master builder of motor trucks, there is no doubt that Garford Trucks will achieve throughout the nation, the degree of supremacy, already enjoyed in New York—the city where motor trucks receive by far the hardest usage, under the most severe conditions, and do more work than in any other city.

We shall maintain a thoroughly trained staff to properly care for the large Garford business in the Eastern territory, with branch show rooms, wholesale and retail, in New York, Newark, Brooklyn and Boston.

May we serve you, even better, in 1915.

The Best and Quickest Way to Help the Destitute

Hunt Out the Best Clothes You Can Spare, Wrap Them in a Bundle and Notify Bundle Day Headquarters, and they Will Be Called for and Given, IMMEDIATELY, to People Who Really Need Them

Copyright, 1915, by The War Chest.

These are times of real distress. Children and women and men lack food to keep them strong and clothing to keep them warm.

The worst of the Winter has passed. There is certain to be very great suffering before the warm weather, however.

Thanks to the intelligent efforts of worthy men and women a plan has been devised by which the distressed can be helped immediately.

This is a plan which involves no expenditure of money and little trouble for those who take part in it. If the suggestions of the committee meet with ready response the clothing problem will at least be settled.

The plan is this: Every person having clothing that can be spared is asked to collect it, to wrap it in a strong paper bundle and send it to Bundle Day Headquarters, No. 11 Wareham street, or to the Eliot Square Storage Warehouse.

If this is inconvenient, notify these places by post card or by telephone Oxford 6580 or 6582.

If for any reason this cannot be done, hang from your window an American flag, and a wagon will come for your bundle and take it to headquarters.

Here is a method by which every family in comfortable circumstances can help some family in anything but comfortable circumstances.

It is a plan in which you can interest your children and teach them the delight that comes from relieving distress.

There are few people of regular incomes who have not some article of clothing they can spare.

Whether it is a coat, an overcoat, a dress, underclothing, stockings or bedding, you may be sure that there is some one who stands in real need of it.

If all the closets where is hung clothing that the owners will never wear again could be ransacked and their contents sent to the bundle day committee, the clothing problem would be solved for the present.

The purpose is to clothe the destitute, and to do it immediately.

You who live in Boston have plenty of opportunity to see the need of this great and fine work.

You cannot go from your home to your place of business, you cannot walk half a dozen blocks, without seeing men and women and children who are insufficiently clad.

If you are regularly employed, you are sure to have some article of apparel which you can afford to do without.

You will best serve the great need which has given rise to this movement by giving the best things you can spare—not the worst. Pick over your spare stock with a view of finding something that will be really useful.

If you have anything that is in need of repair, send it along; it will be put in repair before it is distributed.

You can thus do a share in a charitable work that is real charity.

You may be able to save a life, or perhaps several lives.

You can shield a little child from the cold; you can enable an unemployed man or woman to go out and seek work without danger of contracting a fatal malady.

You can put all the unemployed in a more cheerful frame of mind, and help them to put a braver face on their troubles, which are very real troubles.

Think of the children in your own home, and try to picture them as needing clothing, and without means of getting it.

Think how grateful you would feel if you were sinking along in the lee of the tall buildings to avoid the piercing wind, if some one would thrust into your hands a warm overcoat and tell you to put it on, with no feeling of indebtedness to anybody.

At such a time as this it is the duty of all the fortunate to help the unfortunate. If you have a job that pays you enough to live on and a little more, you are to be numbered among the fortunate.

Help this movement, which is the most practical and the most sensible that has yet been instituted.

The committee having the work in charge is composed of men and women who really understand the need of the time, and how to answer it.

You can trust them to take care of the distribution, if you do not have time to attend to it yourself. It would be better still to enlist under their direction for help. But, anyway, gather up your clothing and wrap it into bundles and send it along.

February 24, Wednesday, is bundle day. Be ready for it.

The Case of the Evelyn and Its Immediate Lesson

The very sincere desire of the American people to avoid entanglement in this war was, we think, clearly indicated by the interest aroused Sunday by the reported sinking of an American ship in the war zone. Had the news been positive that the disaster was due to a torpedo purposely launched, or had any American lives been sacrificed, the situation today would have been most menacing.

It cannot be urged too strongly upon our people that they refrain from leaping hastily to a conclusion in such matters of news as this. The sinking of the Evelyn, it appears, was due to contact with a mine, and occurred, furthermore, in a locality that makes it wholly improbable that the incident had any connection with the German policy regarding neutrals, which is now a matter of discussion between our State Department and the Kaiser's government.

Send all the clothing YOU can spare to Bundle Day Headquarters, 11 Wareham street, or to the Eliot Square Storage Warehouse, or notify either of these places or hang a flag from your window tomorrow and it will be called for. In this way you will really help to solve a serious problem.

Indeed, the occurrence is almost one of fate's ironies. The Evelyn was freighted with foodstuffs for Germany. She was engaged in precisely the sort of maritime trade for interfering with which Germany savagely attacks England. To get even with the British, Germany strews the channel with mines, and announces that she will not be responsible for damage done to neutrals by them or by the activity of her submarines.

And, after all, the first American ship to so suffer was bent on relieving German distress and was stopped, not by British blockaders, but by a German mine at the mouth of a German river.

Nevertheless, the affair might have been most serious had it occurred on a business day, when the afternoon newspapers are appearing every few minutes, and public opinion is formed fast on the streets and in the exchanges. The fortunate quiescence of Sunday, and the ease with which reassuring details were obtained to be given to the public the next morning, averted any sensational or dangerous demonstrations.

We may not always be so fortunate. It is the duty of citizens, of every one of them, to hesitate long before forming an opinion, and particularly before expressing an opinion, upon any report of a maritime disaster which may come from the war zone. That such disasters may occur without that intent on the part of either belligerent as would justify sharp resentment is certain. The situation that would proceed from the deliberate destruction of an American ship by either belligerent would be so serious that it would be criminal to charge deliberate intent in any such event except after the most painstaking investigation.

Life's mysteries! Social clubs.

Note that an alienist declares More to be "mentally unwell." Wouldn't it be a awful hard thing if an alienist had to answer, "Dippy" or "Not Dippy"?

By-the-by, where the dickens have the Montanegrines gone?

Fit man, tries to shoot himself, but bullet can't penetrate far enough to hurt. European generals please write.

Never saw the innumerate atrocities of war been so revealed as in the headline, "Big German Plan to Get Paris Styles." Man's inhumanity to women!

Unnecessary Truths, Declares Dorothy Dix, Wreck Many Households

Nothing Else on Earth So Brutal as Cruel Candor of Near Relation—Continual Reminder of Faults Saps Last Bit of One's Courage

By DOROTHY DIX

It is started more than anything else, and to have such backing and energetic pushing, it is against the habit we all indulge in of speaking the truth, the plain truth and nothing but the truth to those of our own household. For, strangely enough, truth is a luxury that we reserve almost exclusively for home consumption, and the idea prevails that, like certain bitter and nauseous medicines, the more disagreeable it is, the more efficacious, and the more confidence we have in its working.

Now it is not intended to advocate the telling of lies in the home circles, though there have been times in all of our experiences when we could have wished that those nearest and dearest to us had been Annulases and Saphiras, rather than the veracious Jones that they were. This is only a plea for the suppression of those unnecessary truths that would like barbed arrows, and against which we are so defenseless because the archer knows only too well the weak spot within us at which to aim.

Not long ago a woman was telling of her little son, who accidentally upset a plate of soup on the cloth at dinner. He was sharply reprimanded for his carelessness and sent from the table. At the doorway he paused and, with quivering lips, turned to his mother and asked, "Why didn't you say it didn't make any difference, like I was company?" I didn't make any bigger spot than Mr. Smith did when he turned over his wine.

Could any better reproof to the mother, who told the unpleasant truth to her child, and the pleasant taradiddle to a guest, have been made?

To Be Continually Reminded of Weakness Saps Last of One's Courage

In spite of all that is said to the contrary, most of us are all too well aware of our weaknesses and failures, and to be continually reminded of them at home saps the last bit of courage and takes the last bit of fight out of us. Who can nerve himself for the battle when those about his own hearthstone are reminding him of previous defeats? Yet this one time may be his last chance to win a victory that would atone for a thousand failures.

There are truths that sting like scorpions, and when those we love lie dead, not the least of the things with which we shall reproach ourselves are the unkind and unkindly necessary truths that we have told them.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

The Pioneer of Spring

BEFORE the crocus pops its head above the cold and sodden ground, Before the willows overhead In fur and greenery are gown'd,

Before the geese go honking by (Or earliest robins are a-sing) Arrives the always punctual fly, The foremost harbinger of Spring.

WITH germs of every known disease Encouraging all his many feet, He buzzes 'round until he sees The where-withal to drink and eat.

He haunts through the kitchen door, Still innocent of summer screens; About the corner grocery store He banquets on the early greens.

WITH every vernal breeze that blows Come millions of his evil kind, And everywhere the miscreant goes He leaves a trail of death behind.

More deadly than the hand of war, A murderer of the blackest dye; When Spring comes whispering at the door Her voice should warn you: "Swat the fly!"

Work for Everybody

When one thinks of all the commissions and investigations that the government and the States and the cities are conducting one wonders how there can possibly be any unemployment in this country.

Only Fair

Now that Congress is considering a resolution of thanks to Dr. Cook for discovering the North Pole, isn't somebody introduced a bill to erect a monument to Darius Gann for inventing the spring machine?
